

NextGen | Selection Criteria

Criterion	What the panel is looking for
Leadership potential and influence	You are already making a positive impact on others through initiative, relationships, professional practice, contribution, or emerging leadership beyond your immediate role.
Readiness and motivation	This is the right time for you to step forward. You are ready to reflect, learn with others, and grow your confidence and influence.
Contribution mindset	You are willing to participate actively, share your practice, support peers, and contribute to the cohort and the wider ACEL community.
Alignment with Next Gen	You are an aspiring educator or professional who is ready to grow your influence and do so without relying on a formal title or position.
Commitment and capacity to engage	You can commit to the full NextGen experience, including mentoring, facilitated learning, and key events.
